of the Supreme Court. Lillian E. Faulk was put on the stand by the defence, and testified that in December, 1888, he had a store in Orchard street, where bedding and mattresses were sold. She said that in December, 1888, Mr. Wilson bought from her two sheets, a mattress, and some pillows, which, his request, she sent to the ship Creedmone On cross-examination Mrs. Faulk, when asked if Wilson was drunk, replied: "I wouldn't like to say. He wasn't full, but he might have had a utle liquor in him."

John P. Balderson, cierk in the shipping office of Meiler & Quereno in 1888, recollected that Wilson had been in the office and talked about going on the Creedmoor to Australia, and made ome purchases. Balderson said that Lawyer Hudson was with Wilson and paid for what Wilson bought, The defence to Wilson's strange story of the alleged scheme to get posession of the property due him from his father's estate is that prior to Wilson's mysterious disappearance he, in 1885, for a valuable consideration, transferred all his interest in his father's estate to Bruce Fenn, who at once reconveyed it to Mrs. Wilson. It is said that this double transfer was made to prevent just such a charge as Wilson has made in the present

To establish the validity of the deeds which Wilson declares forgeries Bruce Fenn was called

He said that he was in the real estate business m 1885, and met Wilson in the summer of that year. Fenn identified the deed in which he transferred the property in question to Mrs. Wilson. He said that he drew up the deed and that it was executed in Gen. Tracy's office. Fenn to identified the deed to the same property made by Wilson to his wife, who afterward married the defendant, Clancy. The witness said that John P. Hudson took the acknowledgment of the several persons executing the deeds On cross-examination Fenn admitted that his ecollection about the deeds and about what took place when they were executed was very After recess Edward Ellis of 73 Ryerson street, Brooklyn, an employee in the Brooklyn Navy Yard, testified that he had been an office boy in the law office of Gen. Catlin, in Brooklyn. While there he met Wilson, who told him he was going on a long voyage. He said that he had frequently seen Wison intoxicated. Wison was then recalled.

had frequently seen Wilson intoxicated.

Wilson was then recalled.

When Lawyer Miller asked: "Did you not receive $75 from me on May 15, 1888?" the plaintif replied, "No, sir." as he brought his hand down on the railing with a whack that made Judge Lawrence jump.

"Will you say that you did not make a deed to your wife in 1885 of all your claim on the estate?" tate?"
"I cannot say I did, for I have no knowledge of it. I couldn't make such a deed, for the estate was not settled, and I could not make a deed of what I did not have."

"Will you say you did not sign these deeds?"
"I will swear it. If I signed them, I did so while drunk or drugged."

"Then you claim these are not your signatures?"

"Yes. They are forgeries."
"You think there was fraud, then? Where is fraud ?"
That man there," Wilson exclaimed, point-Lawyer Miller asked Wilson if he was intoxi-

Lawyer Miller asked Wilson if he was intoxicated when on the stand in his former trial before Junio Barrett. He said he was not. He denied that his wife had paid 3750 to James Oliver for him, and repudiated the signature on a receipt produced. "Did you owe a Catholic clergyman $120?" "My wife did. She borrowed it." Lawyer-isorge W. Miller, counsel for Clancy, testified that he knew the Wilsons for several years. He was engaged in a case at Isolin, N. J., in which the elder Jacob Wilson, was interested. ested.

During this time both Wilsons were at my office frequentry," said Miller. "Jacob and his wife both told me that Jacob had conveyed to his wife all his interest in his father's estat. Afterward Jacob tried to break the arrange-Afterward Jacob tried to break the arrangements.

"Jacob frequently came to my office about certain negotiations in connection with the estate. Sums of money were given to him from Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Wilson expressed a desire to allow Jacob a certain allowance. Jacob said he wanted to get a sum of money and go offsemewhere. He claimed his habits and associations were bad. He said if he was given $2,000 he would relinquish all claims to the estate and go away.

he would relinquish all claims to the estate and go away.

"I drew up an agreement and told him to consult a lawyer and his friends about it. He said he was satisfied, and signed it. Mrs. Wilson performed her part."

Lawyer Hill, counsel for Wilson, asked the witness: "How was it, if the agreement was to give Wilson $2,000, only $75 was given him to go to Chicago?"

"Mrs. Wilson had not got the estate as yet."

Witness said the agreement was signed in his presence and in that of his partner. Edward L. bavage, and his typewriter, Miss Deraine.

"Who originated the idea of the agreement?"
"I can't tell now."

"Who paid any of the sums of morey to Wil-son, and when or where were the sums paid?"

"I can't say."
"Do you mean to say you don't know of a single payment?"
"I can't recollect."
"The witness said Wilson came to him and gave up his copy of the agreement for a written statement of the money which was coming to him. Afterward Wilson sold the second paper to Feter J. Kelley of Brooklyn. Kelley gave it to Mrs. Wilson for $1.

"Where is that paper now?" Lawyer Hill saked.

"Hon't know."

Lawyer Miller was then excused and Wilson recalled. Wilson denied everything Mr. Miller had said about the agreement for $2,000 and the other paper. He denied that he ever had been said about the denied that he ever had been said about $75. the other paper. He denied that he ever had received $75.\to Lawyer Miller then asked Wilson what he meant when he wrote to Gen. Tracy about his wife "signing an agreement." "What agreement, as you dony that any was made?"

"I had made an arrangement to give my wife
b) much a year."
"Didn't you agree to turn over your estate to your wife?" No: I proposed to wear the pants until I died."

In answer to several questions about financial transactions previous to going to Chicago, witness said ne did not remember.

This witness," said Judge Lawrence, "has a most tremendous memory on certain things and an awfully weak one on other matters."

Lawyer Hill produced a letter written by a Mr. Sipplio at Meibourne, Australia, on Dec. 6, 1888, to a man in this city saving that Wilson bad arrived there almost penniless and that he claimed that Gen. Tracy and Lawyer Hudson owed him a large amount of money from his father's estate. This ended the testimony and the court adjourned to 10 o'clock to-day, when the counsel will sum up.

WILL NOT DISBAND.

The Custom Tailors' Union Will Try to Keep Itself Allvr.

The Journeymen Tailors' Union at a meeting h Schiller's Hall in East Thirty-third street. hear Third avenue, which began into on Wednesday evening and ended early yesterday morning, voted on the question whether their union should be disbanded. Though the union is derply in debt, it was decided not to disband, and an organization committee will be appointed to drum up the membership. Plans of assessment to recoup the empty treasury of the union will be submitted at a future meeting.

The instortunes of this union, which is made up of the employees of the Fifth avenue tailors, began with the general strike against a ten per stat, reduction of wages. At the time of the lifties the employers represented that New lors had formerly a monopoly of artistic tailorate, but that other cities were beginning to do like same kind of work, and the only way of keeping the trade here was to reduce the wages and the prices.

Many of the members admitted this, but their rouncels is accept the reduction were unheeded, it was decided not to accept the reduction, and the strike was ordered. The union is thirty-three years in existence, and was before the strike one of the strongest in the city. deeply in debt, it was decided not to disband,

False Coin Makers of Stanton Street. Fritz Spieker and William Noelken, who were rested fate on Wednesday night by Secret Service Detectives Hagg and Esquirell, charged Service Retectives Hagg and Esquirell, charged with making and passing counterfeit coin, were arraigned before United States Commissioner Areander yesterday afternion. Spieker waived stamination. Noeiken confessed to passing the coin. The Commissioner held both men in $2,500 ball each for examination before Commissioner Shields next Tuesday. The counterfeiters plant was found on the fourth floor of the tenement at 37 Stanton street. BOARD OF ESTIMATE GOES LAME

When the Comptroller Has the Gost-War-ing's Money Not Provided Yet. Comptroller Fitch is laid up with a slight at tack of the gout, and, therefore, the meeting of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment yesterday was not productive of great results. The chief thing that wasn't done was providing for Col. Waring's deficiency. Corporation Counsel Scott said that the report was ready, and that at the next meeting of the Board, on Tuesday morning, the matter would be settled. Col, Waring didn't seem a bit pleased with the delay. He said to the Beard:

"I should like to know if I am to keep narrowing my expenditures as I have been. It is getting pretty narrow." "I guess you can keep on narrowing," said the Corporation Counsel.

The $500,000 appropriation for the new botanic garden in Bronx Park and the $100,000 special appropriation for Mayor Strong's Lexowers also went over until Tuesday. Commissioner Brookfield submitted his list of streets to be paved with asphalt this year, at a commissioner Brookheid submitted his list of streets to be pared with asphait this year, at a cost of $780,000. This list has already been published in The Sun.

The Police Board asked for the transfer of $2,500 for contingencies in procuring evidence against disorderly houses, $500 for a confidential agent to look up the records of applicants for places on the force, $800 for a tenegrapher for the chief clerk, and $875 for an additional stenographer for the Commissioners. All referred to the Comptroller.

Secretary Delafield of the Rapid Transit Commission asked for $5,000 to pay the canvassers of the Commission who had been getting for failing to get consents of the property owners along the proposed routes. He said that these thirteen men had done in three weeks for $5,000 say $125 a week apiece what twenty-eight under the old Board had done in seven weeks at a cost of over $10,000. The men are badly in need of the money, as the work has been finished for ten days. The matter was laid over until the Comptroller could be present.

Judge Goldfogle of the Fifth District Court asked the Board to get him new quarters, as the present court room at 154 Clinton street was totally laxiequate. It was referred to the Comptroller.

STREET STABLES DISAPPEAR.

Col. Waring Sends a Circular of Congrata

Col. Waring sent out a circular to his district superintendents yesterday written in a most congratulatory vein concerning the removal of trucks from the streets. He says that the men have done nobly, and that the good work must be kept up until there isn't a "dead" truck to be seen on the streets. "This end being secured or assured." he says, you will then give your careful consideration to the interests of owners of vehicles of all classes. It is estimated that some 30,000 vehicles have disappeared from the streets; fewer than fifty complaints and reclamations have come to the Mayor or to the department. This is a most satisfactory showing, and the achievement would not have been possible but achievement would not have been possible but for the habitual respect for the law that our people shows under all circumstances. I think we may say that while we have in some cases aroused a sentiment of hatred, we have on the whole secured the respect even of those whom we have had to annoy and to injure. Let us overcome enmity and strengthen respect by making the continuance of the new condition as little oppressing as possible to all who are engaged in the work of interior transportation." He ends by saying that, while preventing anything like the storing of trucks in the streets, his men are not to interfere with any such use of vehicles in the streets as may serve the convenience of their users. Vehicles may stand unharnessed during the moon feeding hour or while being loaded or while the horses are being shod, and generally when the active prosecution of their work is going on, but nothing like habitual or continued standing by night or day will be allowed.

The Department of Street Cleaning will have an auction sale of 150 vehicles on Monday, June 24, at yard No, 1. West Fifty-sixth street and Eleventh avenue, and another of 125 vehicles on Wednesday, June 26, at its yard at First avenue and Thirty-eighth street. for the habitual respect for the law that our Waring Consults Wilson. Street Cleaning Commissioner Waring called on President Wilson of the Board of Realth yesterday and had a long consultation with him. When asked as to its purport, President Wilson said that they talked over methods of separating garbage from ashes.

Dock Commissioners Don't Like Toots. The Dock Commissioners have grown tired of the almost continual tooting of tugs which go into the slip between Pier A and the Iron Steam boat Company's pier to get fresh water at a hydrant there. When the tugs go in they toot and when they go out they toot, and all business in the Dock Board rooms has to be sus-ness in the Dock Board rooms has to be suspended during the toots.

At first it was thought that the Board would petition Commissioner Brookfield to remove the hydrant altogether, but Commissioner Einstein said that the tugmen would hover consent to this, and in revenge would blow off all their spars steam tooting around Pier A. At last it was decided to ask him to have it removed to the north side of Pier A.

"We won't write any formal note to Mr. Brookfield," said Mr. Einstein. "Fil just have him down here for a half hour some day and let him listen to the toots, and I don't think there'll be any trouble about having it moved."

Mrs. Melissa Clark of 95 Arlington avenue, who was 80 years old on Wednesday, went to the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Brinkerhoff, wife of ex-State Senator William Brinker-hoff, at 97 Summit avenue, to pass the day. Mrs. hoff, at 97 Summit avenue, to pass the day. Mrs. Brinkerhoff took her mother out for a drive on the new boulevard. Mrs. Clark was in excellent spirits. After dinner she went up stairs to take a rest. Her daughter accompanied her. As the old lady entered the room she fell forward on the floor dead. A doctor said that she died of heart disease. Mrs. Clark was one of the oldest residents of Jersey City. She left two daughters and three sons. One of her sons is Frank L. Clark, a well-known Jersey City lawyer.
